A fresh graduate from Telkom University with a degree in Informatics. I am strongly interested in informatics, data processing, program security, and predictive analysis, which has equipped me to handle best-case and worst-case scenarios effectively. I am passionate about leadership and mentorship, and I actively seek opportunities to apply to these skills. I am currently looking for a position that offers valuable learning experiences and mentorship, with a focus on cybersecurity, data analysis, customer service, and data management. Still, it doesn't rule out the possibility for me to try a new role. Additionally, I have an interest in content creation, and food and beverages industry.
